

BARS SAWED BY PRISONERS DURING NIGHT

Three Men Escape After Being Given Assistance From The Outside

(From Monday's Daily)

Three men who escaped from the county jail early Sunday morning with the assistance of a fourth, working from outside, who is known by the police, were safely behind bars once more today. One of the trio was captured by the authorities only a few hours after he had escaped, and less than 24 hours after the others had gained their liberty, they too were again locked in cells at the jail.

The three who escaped were J. C. McFarland and C. M. Bradley, who were in jail awaiting trial in circuit court on a charge of larceny of a Ford sedan from a local rental company, and Ed. Pozorski, held for trial on a bastardy complaint. Only one other man was in the jail when the three gained their liberty, John Novicki, who had been brought in Saturday afternoon to be arraigned on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

Well-Laid Plans

The jail delivery, early Sunday morning, was cleverly executed by the prisoners and carried out after well-laid plans. Two sets of bars were sawed and broken through and a lock on the cell of Bradley and McFarland was pried off. The saw with which they sawed their way to freedom was supplied by a man who, police say, was recently released from jail. A warrant for his arrest was to be issued today, it was stated. His name was withheld by the authorities.

It was the second attempt at freedom by McFarland and Bradley. The two were discovered on May 30 by Sheriff John A. Berry sawing at one of the bars on the windows of the jail with a saw made of a case knife supplied them for eating their meals. Before this attempt at jail breaking was discovered, the two men had been allowed the freedom of the corridor, which surrounds the "cage" on the first floor containing the cells in the jail.

Surrounded by Hall

The "cage" is a network of bars set in the center of the big room, and it is surrounded on all sides by a hall. When the two men were found attempting to saw their way through a bar in a window of the jail, they were placed in their cell, where they were kept continually, with the exception of an hour each evening allowed in the corridor for exercise.

In a sworn confession to District Attorney B. J. Carpenter today, McFarland and Bradley told the story of their escape. They were charged by Deputy Sheriff Manuel Berry with the assistance of other local officials in the local Soo line freight yards Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, just a short time before they had planned to leave the city on a freight train.

The saw supplied them was brought into the jail Friday morning, they stated, and they worked all day Saturday, sawing the bolts holding the lock of their cell to the iron door. Soap from the toilets was used by them in covering the cracks made by the steel toothed shaft.

Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, after the supper hour and the exercising period for the four prisoners, roll was called as usual by Deputy Sheriff Manuel Berry. McFarland and Bradley were standing near the front of their cell and responded. Pozorski, who has been confined in his bed with rheumatism, responded also, supposedly from his cot in his cell. The confession of the two men this morning revealed that Pozorski, instead of going back into his cell after the close of the supper hour, had crawled to the opposite side of the cage and laid down. Deputy Sheriff Berry had supposed when Pozorski responded, that he was lying on his cot.

Makes Preparation

Some time after the jail had been locked, and the cell doors locked, Pozorski arose from his hiding place. It is stated, and taking blankets from the bed, hung them over the windows and on the cage so that in case anyone should enter the corridor, the interior would be dark and they would not be noticed.

Nowicki, the fourth prisoner, went to sleep early and awoke only once during the night. He told authorities he asked the other prisoners what they were doing so early in the morning and they told him they were "exercising."

Bar Taken From Bed

With the aid of a steel bar broken from one of the cots during the day, the lock was pried from its place on the door, its fastenings having been

Judge Park Gives Two Jail-Breakers 3-Year Sentences

J. C. McFarland and C. M. Bradley, two adventurers from nowhere in particular, who secured their freedom from the county jail here early Sunday morning with Ed. Pozorski of this city by sawing their way through the bars in a window and sawing the lock off their cell door, have been sentenced to the Green Bay reformatory.

McFarland and Bradley, at the time of their escape, were in the county jail awaiting trial in circuit court on a charge of the larceny of a Ford sedan from a local rental company, after having pleaded not guilty in county court before Judge W. F. Owen.

Both were taken before Judge Byron B. Park in circuit court at Waupaca on Monday afternoon to enter pleas of guilty to the larceny charge, and both received three-year sentences in the state reformatory at Green Bay. Because they pleaded guilty to the larceny charge, authorities here will not press a charge of jail breaking against them, it was stated today.

BANKERS ON BOAT TRIP

J. W. Duneagan returned from Chicago Monday, going there from Milwaukee, where he and A. C. Kingston attended the state bankers' convention. It was the largest gathering in the history of the association, over four hundred being present at a banquet at the Plankinton hotel. A majority of the bankers are now on a lake trip up the Soo and thence to Cleveland, Buffalo, and Niagara Falls, elaborate entertainment being provided at each port where the boat will stop. Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Crowell of Almond are members of the party.

weakened by the sawing during the day. McFarland and Bradley told authorities today that after they had escaped from their cell they went to a window on the northeast part of the jail, where a bar had been sawed through by their companion on the "outside," and which they succeeded in breaking through. A window weight was torn out of the sash and using this as a lever, the half-sawed bar was broken off. The three men jumped through and went to Plover street, where they were to have met their companion in a car. It was two o'clock Sunday morning when they crawled out of the window. Their assistant couldn't be found, scared away evidently, and from there they went to the Washington school grounds on Clark street, and Pozorski was sent to secure a cab. In the meantime local police had been notified of prowlers in the yard of a residence near the jail, and in making a search about the grounds, the jail delivery was discovered.

Pozorski Captured

Local railway authorities were notified, and telegrams were sent to all points on the Soo line as far north as St. Paul and as far south as Milwaukee, to warn police in those cities. Taxi offices here were notified and watched, and when Pozorski arrived at one of the offices to secure a cab, he was apprehended by Deputy Sheriff Manuel Berry and placed in jail.

McFarland and Bradley waited a short time for Pozorski to return, they stated today, and when he failed to show up, went east on Clark street, and then turned north, going to a deserted house on North Michigan avenue, near the fair grounds. They stayed there all day Sunday without food, with the exception of two sample packages of a breakfast food which they found lying on the porch.

Go to Soo Line

Sunday evening they left their hiding place and went to the Soo railway yards, where they hid in a caboose for some time. The yards had been closely watched during the day, and when a railroad employe saw the two men in hiding, police were notified. The jail breakers were caught just before they had planned to leave the city.

McFarland and Bradley this morning told the district attorney they were willing to stand immediate trial in circuit court on the larceny charge on which they were being held. Both were ready to plead guilty, they told the district attorney, and were to be taken to Waupaca this afternoon to be arraigned before Judge Byron B. Park in circuit court to make their pleas and receive sentences. No other charges will be preferred against them, it is stated, provided they enter guilty pleas to the larceny charges.

Pozorski, it is stated, will be arraigned on a charge of jail breaking in a local court. He must also stand trial on the bastardy charge.

SPRING WATER DELAYING WORK ON NEW SEWER

Difficulties Encountered By Donahue's Crew On North Second Street

Difficulties are being experienced in the Fourth ward by the crew of men employed by J. M. Donahue in laying sanitary sewer for the city.

Rock formations were encountered on Fifth avenue which required much blasting and slowed up the work. The rock was found to be from 18 inches to three and one-half feet in depth.

Water on North Second

Spring water in quantities is now causing trouble on the upper end of North Second street. The sewer pipes are laid eight feet from the surface of the street and water has formed to a depth of four feet in the trench dug on North Second. The trouble started above the Sixth avenue intersection on Monday when a part of the street caved in. This caused no trouble in itself as the pipe was already laid at that point, but as the work proceeded on the street Tuesday more water was found and in larger quantities. It is coming through a gravel formation into the trench. A pump was installed to drain the trench so that the work of pipe laying could be continued.

Twelve hundred feet of sewer are being laid on North Second street from North avenue north to the city limits. Water pipe is also to be laid on this stretch by Mr. Donahue at once, being emergency work ordered by the council so that paving can be done this season there.

Detour on No. 10

North Second street forms a part of state trunk highway No. 10, the Wausau road, and since work was started by Mr. Donahue's crew last week detours have been established and North Second blocked off from North avenue north. Up to this time West street has been used as a detour, but deep cuts on that thoroughfare between Fourth and Fifth avenue made travel difficult. From the upper end of West street traffic was sent back to North Second via Walker street.

Work has progressed so far on North Second street that another detour route had to be established Tuesday. This begins at Fourth avenue, runs west to Forest street, then north to West street and west again until it connects with the old Wausau road. This highway is then followed to the vicinity of the Langenberg brick yard, where it turns back to No. 10.

Job Nearly Done

In spite of the difficulties encountered by Mr. Donahue's crew, including a delay of two weeks caused by the rock encountered on Fifth avenue, and the present water trouble on North Second, the work has gone forward without interruption. Sanitary sewer has already been installed in sections of the following streets so far this season by Mr. Donahue: Dixon, East avenue, Madison, Monroe, Church, Plover, Pine, Spruce, Fifth avenue, North avenue and North Second. The work on Fremont street from Ellis to Jefferson, a distance of two blocks, is still to be done, and when this is completed Mr. Donahue's job will be finished. A digger and filler are being used in the work.

Miss Grace Nohr, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Nohr, is a patient at St. Michael's hospital, where she has been the past two weeks with an attack of meningitis.

The meningitis with which Miss Nohr was attacked is probably a form of sleeping sickness and she has been unconscious the greater part of the time she has been a patient at the hospital. Local physicians are puzzled over her case.

She returned from Waukesha, where she is a teacher in the public schools, complaining of a headache, and following a consultation with a physician upon her return she has been at the local hospital.

BECK RETURNS HOME FROM EXTENDED TRIP

Greatest Amount of Prosperity From Southwest Here Found in Wisconsin

John G. Berk returned home Monday after an absence of six weeks in the south and west. He left here early in May for Houston, Texas, as a delegate to the international convention of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen, which was in session there for a month with an attendance of more than two thousand. At the close of this gathering Mr. Berk left for Los Angeles, Cal., and visited several days with a son, William Berk, who is engaged in the automobile business in that city, his home for the past six or eight years. The next stop was at San Diego, where Mr. Berk looked after property interests of his recently deceased half-sister, Miss Katherine Schlegel.

The first signs of prosperity the traveler saw on his return journey was when he reached Kansas, where harvesting is now on and crops will show a big yield. As he came further east the country looked better and Wisconsin is by far the best of all.

In several of the southern states which he passed through enroute to Texas were many pitiable sights caused by flooded conditions, thousands of acres being under water and made unfit for growing this season's crops.

EVERY CITY CALLED UPON FOR MONEY

Buildings On More Than 100 Farms, Mostly Mortgaged, Are Down

Madison, Wis., June 20.—Governor John J. Blaine today issued a plea for immediate financial aid for the tornado-stricken section of northern Wisconsin, to assist the destitute farmers of St. Croix, Polk, Barron and Dunn counties. "I call upon banks, lodges, civic, commercial and fraternal organizations, churches and citizens of every Wisconsin locality to collect money for the relief of the sufferers," the governor said in an official proclamation.

Houses, barns and buildings on more than 100 farms in the district struck by the tornado last week were destroyed totally, the governor was told by Colonel Byron T. Beveridge, who conducted a survey of the stricken district immediately after the storm. "Financial relief is imperative," the governor said.

Henry Johnson, state treasurer, has been appointed custodian of funds by Gov. Blaine. All money collected through newspapers or organizations over the state should be sent at once to Johnson, the governor announced.

Besides damage from the tornado, estimated at $1,000,000, great damage was done crops by the hail storm which accompanied the tornado, Beveridge reported to the governor.

Three-quarters of the farms damaged by the hurricane were mortgaged, the governor said.

Relief Organizing

Rice Lake, Wis., June 20.—Northwestern Wisconsin has organized relief work for those who suffered heavy losses, as the result of the tornado and flood of the past two weeks. More than 300 farmers suffered damage and an organization composed of representatives of Polk, Barron, Dunn and St. Croix counties was formed with the aim of ultimate rehabilitation.

LINEMAN IS KILLED BY ELECTRIC CHARGE

Charles Voerding Meets Death While at Work on Wire at Marshfield

Almost instant death came to Charles Voerding, an employe of the electric light department of the city of Marshfield, when 2,300 volts of current passed through his body as he was at work with another lineman splicing a wire which had been broken during a recent storm. When his hand came in contact with the end of the live wire he sank to the ground, losing consciousness. Doctors arrived with a pulmotor but efforts to save the man's life were unsuccessful.

Voerding was wearing rubber gloves when the tragedy occurred. The theory is advanced that a pair of pliers which he was using to pull points of wire together touched a part of his body and that a circuit was thus established with the ground, which was wet from a heavy rainfall. The deceased was 23 years of age and a veteran of the World war. He came to Marshfield last September from St. Cloud, Minn., where the remains were taken for interment. His death was the third of its kind to occur in Marshfield in three years.

Making Prohibition a Religion

We regard prohibition as a sound public policy. It was established mainly for practical reasons. The nation could not afford the waste of an annual liquor bill running into the billions. The money which went into liquor weakening the physical and mental health of the customer, now goes into food and clothing, houses and lands, entertainment and education. It becomes a stimulus to industry. The sobered workman's efficiency is increased. He becomes worth more to his family, himself and his employer. With the institution of prohibition the moonshine evil has grown up. It is causing a great deal of trouble, but it will never cause prohibition to be abandoned. We believe with Dr. Canfield that a law cannot be repealed by violation.

Feeling as we do about prohibition, we regret that some of its advocates go so far as to make a religion of it, and to base on it their decisions on other public questions of moment. The United States hopes to build up a merchant marine by granting subsidies to ships flying the American flag, as the more successful merchant marines of other countries are encouraged by their home nations. A great many do not believe in giving these subsidies, and they have a right to their opinion. But some favorable to the subsidy principle oppose the subsidies because liquor is sold on ships carrying the American flag outside the territorial limits of the United States. The American ships must compete with the ships of England, France, Holland, Norway and Germany, all of which sell liquor, and as passengers are largely Europeans, who do not feel as we do about prohibition, to deprive American ships of the same rights would put them under another handicap in addition to those under which they now labor. We can't spread prohibition all over the world, we do not even know it would be desirable to do so among peoples of different ways of thought and living in climates different from our own. If we insist on a narrow view, we simply cut ourselves off from business dealings with foreign nations. A merchant marine, built up in time of peace, is also useful in time of war in providing auxiliary ships then needed, and those who believe this, and yet would take steps to make the building up of such a marine impossible, ought to realize that they are weakening their country in case of war. It does not seem reasonable to us that an American vessel in a British port should be denied the privileges the customs of that port extend to other ships.

Nor do we approve of the suspension of any constitutional guarantees for the sake of more successful enforcement of the prohibition law or any other law. Amendment IV of the federal constitution provides:

"The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue except upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized."

In all the United States constitution we do not believe there is a more important clause. It was in force more than 100 years before the 18th amendment was passed, and it cannot be suspended for the sake of the 18th amendment.

Amendment VI of the constitution provides in part:

"In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed."

That is the very foundation of American liberty, and was the very foundation of English liberty before America was settled. More than 1,000 years ago the right of trial by jury was incorporated into the Magna Charta of England, and it is the most important provision of that instrument which yet survives. The preservation of that right in all its sacredness is vastly more important than the enforcement of any law regulating human conduct.

Prohibition is an established American public policy. It is not a religion. It ought not to govern our every relation of life and our relations with other peoples of the world. Particularly it should not be made the excuse of suspending rights more venerable and far more valuable to the happiness and welfare of mankind.

Governor Blaine's Platform

In considering the platform of any party or candidate, these sections which proclaim the sentiments of all mankind must be separated from those distinctive to the platform and controversial at least in part with the platforms of opposing elements. It cannot be claimed that the Blaine-La Follette people are alone in their devotion to economy, to a protective tariff, to the opening of the St. Lawrence waterway, to the payment of liberal bonuses to the ex-service men, to the prosecution of those who defrauded the government in war contracts, to collection of the principal and interest of the foreign debt to the United States, to opposition to entangling foreign alliances, to abolition of the Pittsburg-plus freight rates. In all of these propositions they agree with many outside of their own ranks and to some there is no serious dissenting opinion anywhere.

The governor's platform must be judged by those planks which are distinctive or at least more firmly presented by his people than by any other political element. These include in the main:

Reduction of the army and navy appropriations.

Excess profits taxes on corporations, increase of individual surtaxes and higher inheritance taxes.

Complete publicity of all federal and state income tax returns.

Repeal of the Esch-Cummins law, control of intrastate rates by the states and a scaling down of railway capitalization to make lower rates possible.

Defeat of the ship subsidy bill.

Abolition of the injunction in labor disputes.

A constitutional amendment to permit child labor legislation.

A constitutional amendment making it necessary to submit the question of peace or war to a vote of the whole people. Opposition to universal military training.

Maintenance of the present primary system without convention.

Attacks "Newberryism," which is defined as excessive expenditures in elections.

Condemns the use of patronage in national affairs to control legislation.

Indorses Senator La Follette and demands his re-election.

Favors the teaching of foreign languages in schools equipped for the purpose.

Maintains the right of all citizens to be secure in their persons and homes against unwarranted seizures and searches.

From time to time the Journal expects to comment frankly on various parts of this platform. Some of it, it believes, is of real constructive value. To some parts of it, such as the teaching of foreign languages in the schools of a state where there is too much foreign language-using and not enough use of American language now, it is strongly opposed. On the other hand the insistence that the people in "their persons, houses, papers and effects be secure against unreasonable searches and seizures" expresses the Journal's sentiments exactly. On the whole it is only a moderately radical platform.

That Damn Primary

When the old guard in the senate heard the results of the Indiana and Pennsylvania primaries, said Senator La Follette in an interview with Arthur Sears Henning in the Chicago Tribune, he heard its members say, stamping about in the cloak rooms, "that damn primary."

That's probable. The old guard didn't want Beveridge in Indiana and it didn't want Pinchot in Pennsylvania. If it could have juggled delegates in a convention, it might have beaten them both. But with the vote of the people taken under conditions guaranteeing everybody a square deal, the old guard was whipped. "Damn the primary" expressed its sentiments.

Yet it is to be said for the old guard that its members are good sportsmen. They can lose like men. Condemning the primary as they do, the old guard members accept its results as the will of the people.

La Follette is not so good a loser. When his candidate was defeated in the senatorial primaries in Wisconsin two years ago, Senator La Follette did not confuse his expression of dissatisfaction to damning the primary. He tried to beat Leavitt after the people had chosen him in a primary. Nor was that an isolated case. Repeatedly the senator has brought out his own candidates after the people have nominated others in primaries. He loves the primary when he wins, but when he loses for contempt of it the old guard has nothing on him.

P. O. BRANCHES
PLAN TO FORM
ORGANIZATIONProposed Council Discussed at
Amherst Meeting of Rural Carriers

Plans for the organization of a Portage County Welfare council, to be composed of five representatives of postmasters and rural carriers in the county, were discussed at Amherst Wednesday evening at the annual meeting of the Portage County Rural Carriers' association.

An organization meeting for the council has been set for June 27 in Stevens Point, when officers for the first year of its activities will be elected. All postmasters and rural carriers of the county will be urged to be in attendance.

Postmaster A. E. Redfield, Assistant R. C. Porter and Superintendent of Mails L. B. Rivers were among those present at Amherst Wednesday evening and spoke in the interests of the county welfare council. A local council is in existence here and is composed of employees of all branches of the post office service. Meetings are held monthly in the interests of the service and in order to promote close cooperation between the government employees.

Council of Five Members

While the county council will be an entirely separate organization, it will have similar purposes and will be the nature of a get-together club for its representative members. At the meeting here on June 27 one presidential postmaster, two from fourth class offices and two rural carriers will be chosen to comprise the council. This initial meeting will be open to all postmasters and rural carriers of the county. Quarterly meetings will be held after the organization is perfected. At the June gathering each year there will be a general attendance for election of new council members.

There are 14 post offices and 25 rural carriers in Portage county including Stevens Point. Carriers work out of the following offices in the numbers also given: Stevens Point 7, Almond 4, Amherst 3, Amherst Junction 2, Bancroft 1, Custer 1, Junction City 2, Plover 2, Polonia 1 and Roskott 2.

The annual meeting of the Rural Carriers' association at Amherst was held in the International bank building and was attended by 14 carriers and two substitutes. All of the local carriers were present.

Officers Are Elected

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Frank McGown, Plover; vice-president, A. R. Barber, Amherst; secretary, M. L. Gordon, Stevens Point, and treasurer, George E. Vaughn, Stevens Point. All were re-elected with the exception of Mr. Barber, who was chosen to succeed W. F. Cartmill of this city, who refused re-election. Mr. Cartmill asked that some other than a Stevens Point man be put in as vice president in order to make the list of officers more representative.

Delegates were chosen to attend the state convention in Wisconsin Rapids August 14-16. The following were selected: F. S. Putz of Almond, George E. Vaughn and M. L. Gordon of Stevens Point and A. R. Barber of Amherst. The association went on record endorsing a movement to get every rural carrier in the county to join the association. Fewer than half a dozen are not now members.

Meet at Plover in 1923

Plover was chosen as the meeting place in 1923. The association meets on the second Wednesday in June, the time having been changed from February to June at a special meeting of the association last fall.

Among those who were called upon to speak at Amherst was Miss Mamie Een, postmistress of that village.

The Berlin Evening Journal, in an account of the death of August Wabinski, former member of the Wabinski Shoe company of this city, who died of cancer at Berlin Monday evening, contains the following:

"With the passing of August Wabinski, the city loses one of the most popular young men known here. He was as honest and scrupulous business man, a friend to all his acquaintances, and a help to relatives. GOLDEN WEDDING
HALTED BY DEATH

Late John Pruc of Springville Was To Have Been One of the Participants

Arrangements which were already under way for celebrating the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Pruc of Springville next year were halted by the sudden death of Mr. Pruc on Wednesday morning. He retired the night before, apparently in his usual health, but when members of the household endeavored to awaken him the next morning they found that he had died. For the past few weeks the aged man had frequently complained of sharp pains in his chest and lungs, but no particular concern was felt and on Tuesday he attended to his usual labors about the farm and visited with his family during the evening. It is believed that a sudden attack of heart failure was the cause of death.

Mr. Pruc was born in Poland 74 years ago and spent most of his life in that country. In 1908 the family emigrated to America, coming directly to Portage county and bought the Bremmer farm in the town of Plover a short distance below the Rosier flour mill at Springville. His knowledge of agriculture gained during the long experience in the old country was put to good uses on his new purchase and it was rapidly increasing in productivity.

The maiden name of Mr. Pruc's wife was Marjovia Panchak, who survives him, as do five sons and three daughters, Constantine Pruc of McKeesport, Pa., Julius of Independence, Ia., Rev. V. Pruc of Redgranite, Stephen and Roman at home, Mrs. Shobak at the old home in Poland, Mrs. Anastasia Pruc of Plover and Mrs. Mary Sharfinski of Wausau.

Requiem high mass, with Father Pruc as celebrant, was offered up at St. Bronislawa's church, Plover, at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning. The pastor, Rev. L. N. Bluma and several neighboring priests assisted at the services. Interment followed in the parish cemetery.

FARM BOOSTER CLUB
GATHERS AT ALMOND

County Agent R. A. Peterson of Wood County Gives Talk at Meeting.

The Farm Boosters club of Almond held a regular meeting at the village hall on Wednesday evening. R. A. Peterson, county agent of Wood county, addressed the meeting on "Community Improvement."

Mr. Peterson in his talk, said that an organization should have a purpose, a plan, and a policy, and of the three the plan for accomplishing its purpose was perhaps the most important. He outlined the plan of work of several of the Wood county community organizations, showing how they had been able, by organized effort, to increase their membership and improve the dairy interests of the community by increasing the number of pure bred sires, organizing cow testing associations, holding picnics and other meetings.

He commended the newly organized Booster club for its work in arranging for the community treating of seed potatoes, and urged that the women of the community be interested in the organization.

County Agent W. W. Clark was present with a moving picture machine and some films of agricultural subjects, but owing to difficulties in making proper connections with the electric current they were not shown.

Plans were made for the securing of Mrs. Nellie Kedzie Jones of the University of Wisconsin to talk at the next regular meeting. It is expected that free moving pictures will also be shown.

SPEEDER-CAR
COLLIDE, FOUR MEN ARE HURT

Supt. W. W. Wade and Companions Injured in Accident Near Spencer

(From Thursday's Daily)

W. W. Wade, Soo line division superintendent, is resting at his home on Church street for a day or two, caring for a badly disfigured face and nose, the result of an accident which befell him at about 10:15 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Mr. Wade, accompanied by Roadmaster John Dixon of Abbotsford, Mr. McDonald of Marshfield, who represents the Western Weighing association, and Carroll Sheriff, son of Mr. Wade, started out Wednesday morning on an inspection trip over the road in the superintendent's motor-driven car, with Carroll at the wheel.

Crash Near Spencer

While traveling over the rails between Withee and Marshfield and just as they came to a crossing about two and three-quarters miles west of Spencer, their speeder collided with a Ford coupe driven by a rural mail carrier, from the Spencer office. Mr. Wade's car was knocked off the track and turned completely over, smashing it quite badly. Several of the superintendent's friends aver that the destruction of his handsome railroad automobile hurt him far more than the physical injuries he received.

All Four Injured

Mr. Sheriff suffered a cut near his right eye and an ankle was sprained. Mr. Dixon's right arm and right ankle were slightly sprained.

Mr. McDonald has a scalp wound, but probably the most serious injuries fell to the lot of Mr. Wade. A deep cut was inflicted over the right eye, the cartilage on his nose was torn loose and he suffered bruises on his hip and back. His face and forehead are now partially covered with adhesive strips of cloth, but aside from these injuries and a slight lameness, he was not otherwise badly hurt.

To Marshfield Hospital

The four men arrived at the Marshfield hospital a few hours after the accident, where Dr. Lyman Opppe dressed their wounds. Mr. Wade came home last night but Sheriff will remain at the hospital a day or two longer. Mr. Dixon was able to return to Abbotsford Wednesday afternoon.

Car Badly Damaged

The Ford's axle was broken, one wheel snapped off, the radiator put out of commission and one fender ruined. The mail carrier, who was alone, escaped unhurt.

BYRON COUGH GIVEN
PARDON BY BLAINE

Affair Recalls Flight of Local Soo Conductor While Out on $500 Bail

According to advices from Madison, Governor J. J. Blaine has extended a full pardon to Byron Cough of Fond du Lac, formerly of Amherst, who is out on parole on a reformatory sentence of two years.

Cough was tried at Fond du Lac on a charge of robbing Soo line freight cars and later on a perjury charge. He was sent to Green Bay in December, 1920, for two years on a perjury charge growing out of his trial in connection with the robbery of the freight cars. He served about nine months when he was admitted to parole and is reported to have been conducting himself in an industrious manner since. He was paroled to City Clerk A. M. Hunter at Fond du Lac. His time would have expired next September, but the pardon now restores him to full citizenship.

The Cough affair brings to mind the escape of Edward Jacobson of this city, the Soo conductor who figured in the case and who, arrested and released on bail of $500, furnished by a friend at Fond du Lac, left and has never been heard from, although reports of his being in southern California have been in circulation.

WELL KNOWN JEWELER OF CITY CALLED

Passes Away After Heart Attack at Native Home in Austria

(From Friday's Daily)

"Hennendorf, Burgenland, Austria—Father died June 13; cause heart failure. Marie"

These fatal words were contained in a cablegram received this morning by members of the Ferdinand Hirzy family, bringing the startling intelligence that their father had passed away at his native home in Austria, where he had gone only a few weeks before to look after extensive land and timber interests and visit his daughter, Marie, the wife of Prof. Estwanne Kozma, a distinguished educator. A brother, Alois Hirzy, also lives at Hennendorf.

Planned to Return

This morning's first delivery of mail included a letter from Mr. Hirzy dated May 31, in which he told of unexpectedly rapid progress being made in settling his affairs and that he hoped to return to Stevens Point in October. When he left here a couple of months ago he expected to be gone at last a year. On the day this letter was written Mr. Hirzy made casual reference to feeling slightly indisposed, but as he has been subject to brief spells of illness for several years the family gave it only a passing thought.

Mr. Hirzy left this city on the night of April 13 for Pittsburgh, Pa., and was joined there a week later by Mr. and Mrs. Nick Miller, all proceeding from there to New York, where they boarded an ocean liner. Landing at Hamburg, Germany, Mr. Hirzy went from there to Berlin and Vienna, thence to his childhood home at Hennendorf.

Arrangements Unknown

What disposition will be made of the remains is not known but it appears probable that burial will take place beside his parents and other relatives in the old churchyard in Austria.

The Main street jewelry store will be closed until Monday morning, by which time definite plans may be thought out, but there is every probability that Ferdinand, Jr., will continue the local business.

Came Here in 1913

Ferdinand Hirzy was born at Hennendorf 62 years ago. He mastered the watchmaking trade in his native town and at the age of 22 emigrated to America. He first located in Fifield, Wis., later engaging in business at Marshfield and Rhineland. In 1913 the family moved to Stevens Point, Mr. Hirzy opening a store in the former J. Iverson location at 418 Main street and meeting with gratifying success. He was recognized as an expert watch repairer and this, together with a genial disposition and hearty goodfellowship, made his store a popular trading place. Mrs. Hirzy died at the family home, 1025 Main street, last July.

Surviving Relatives

Surviving are four daughters, and one son, Mrs. Kozma of Austria, Marie, Rose, Mrs. Jos. F. Hein, Ferdinand and Leona, of this city.

A brother, Anton F. Hirzy, lives at Wisconsin Rapids.

The deceased's social affiliations included membership in Council No. 1170, Knights of Columbus.

Aged Resident of Missouri to be Taken to Winnebago

Henry Roberts, 76, a resident of Lexington, Mo., and a former resident of Plover, was taken to the hospital at Winnebago Friday, following an examination for his sanity conducted Thursday by local physicians.

Roberts told persons here, after he had arrived from Lexington, that friends there had contributed part of his fare to Stevens Point in order that he might visit familiar scenes. He arrived at Wisconsin Rapids a month ago without funds and started to walk to Plover from there. He suffered a stroke of paralysis near the cemetery at the Rapids, and a passing motorist noticing his condition, picked him up and brought him to Plover.

Mr. Roberts finally arrived in Stevens Point, and after attention by City Physician F. A. Southwick, was taken to St. Michael's hospital. His actions while a patient there caused physicians to examine him for his sanity. A first examination found him sane, but later developments caused physicians to make a change in their determination.

The aged man told those with whom he came in contact here that his wife and four children had died at Lexington within one week of pneumonia, and that he had no next relatives.

The family expects to return here shortly before the Normal school opens in September.

CANOE TIPS OVER

Local Boys Have Exciting Experience At High Banks

Two local boys, Ray Sessing and Al Rukoff, had an exciting experience on the Wisconsin river at High Banks Thursday afternoon.

The two boys were canoeing in the blue of the river during a strong wind which raised fairly large waves. Cutting them off their guard a particularly large wave suddenly struck the canoe, turning it over and throwing the boys into the river. Both were good swimmers, and they succeeded in swimming to shore pushing their canoe before them.

WAUPACA LAKES TRAGEDY SCENE SUNDAY NIGHT

Leonard Murphy, Bear Creek Postmaster, Loses Life By Drowning

Leonard Murphy, aged 24 years, postmaster at Bear Creek, Outagamie county, was drowned in Rainbow lake, Chain o' Lakes, Waupaca, at 7:15 o'clock Sunday evening, the first casualty of the season there.

Murphy and two other young men had been bathing in the lake and attended in their bathing suits, were afloat upon an overturned canoe, when it suddenly capsized and plunged them into deep water. The youngest man of the three, not a good swimmer, was assisted to safety by the second of the trio, leaving Murphy to himself. Either unable to swim or seized with cramps, he went down into a cold under-current and lost his life.

Recover Corpse Later

The corpse was recovered one hour and 20 minutes later and physicians began at once in an effort to resuscitate the victim, but without success. After more than two hours' work over the body Murphy was pronounced dead.

The tragedy occurred about 200 feet from shore, out from the Grand View hotel and in sight of Murphy's sister, who with two other young ladies had accompanied the three young men to the Chain o' Lakes to spend Sunday on an outing. The young women were on the shore nearby. When the canoe capsized and it became known that Murphy was in danger of drowning, several men on the shore rushed to his rescue. The first to respond were James Norton, chef at the Grand View, and Jerry Quail of Waupaca. Later in the evening the body was located by dragging and was brought to the surface when one of the rescue party dove for it.

Local People There

Several Stevens Point people were at Grand View when the drowning occurred and witnessed the efforts at rescue. They were also present when the body was located and was brought to shore.

FRANK B. LAMOREUX DEATH IS MOURNED BY MANY FRIENDS

(From Monday's Daily)

Seldom has the announcement of a death caused as much genuine expression of grief as when the news was circulated that Frank B. Lamoreux had died Tuesday morning at Jansville while enroute to his home at Ashland.

Many of his friends in this city, where Mr. Lamoreux resided for many years and at various times practiced law with the late Judge Cate, A. W. Sanborn and Judge Byron B. Park, were aware that he had been in poor health since last November and that he could devote only a few days to his business affairs since that time. Early this spring Mr. and Mrs. Lamoreux went to Battle Creek, Mich., where he became a patient at the sanitarium. An incision made by surgeons there disclosed that he was suffering with an aggravated form of cancer, but the doctors were able to perform a second operation which brought decided relief and gave hope that the patient might live for several months, and possibly a year.

Early this week Mr. and Mrs. Lamoreux started on their return to Ashland, stopping off at Jansville for a visit with Supt. J. T. Hooper of the state school for the blind, who was a former neighbor of theirs. The journey is presumed to have affected Mr. Lamoreux's heart and he died very unexpectedly at about 6 a. m. on Tuesday.

Native of County

Mr. Lamoreux was born at Plover 26 years ago, the second son of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Lamoreux, pioneers of that village. He grew to young manhood there and in the early '80s came to Stevens Point to work in Cate, Jones and Sanborn's office and take up the study of law. He proved to be an apt pupil, quickly mastering a knowledge of Blackstone that permitted his admission to the bar. In May, 1886, the firm of Lamoreux and Park was organized and until its dissolution 18 years ago it was recognized for exceptional legal ability and a steadfast loyalty to clients. Since Mr. Lamoreux moved to Ashland in 1904 he has been associated with Sanborn, Lamoreux and Pray, the junior member being Allan T. Pray, older son of the late President T. B. Pray of the Stevens Point Normal school.

Children Deceased

Mr. Lamoreux married Miss Lizzie Parr Eddy of this city and to them were born two daughters, Lucine, who died in early childhood, and Eliza, later the wife of Kenneth L. M. Pray, now of Philadelphia. Mrs. Pray was killed in an automobile accident at Kalamazoo, Mich., in 1917. An only brother, Charles A. Lamoreux, lives in Milwaukee.

There is one granddaughter, Ellen Pray, now ten years of age. Hundreds of people in Stevens Point and Portage county realize that through Mr. Lamoreux's death they lose a staunch and loyal friend.

STEVENS POINT GAZETTE

Smothering Youngster Plunged Into Window Plate Glass Broken

A large plate glass window in the display room of the Badger garage at 310 Strong's avenue was broken Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock when a boy of about 10 years plunged headlong into it.

The boy's name was not learned. Persons on Strong's avenue saw him rush into the display room through the back entrance as though some one was chasing him. He ran through the room and apparently not seeing the window plunged into it. The window was broken by the impact of his body, but the boy picked himself up from the floor, where he had been thrown by the collision, and without looking about rushed out the back door again. He has not been seen since. A box of nails which he was carrying was found on the floor near the broken window, left there in his hurry to escape. The glass which was broken extends to the level of the floor.

It is believed, the boy thought there was a door in this part of the building, through which he could reach the street.

A door in the front of the building adjoins the part which contained two sections of plate glass, one of which was broken. The glass was insured.

FRANK B. LAMOREUX BURIED AT ASHLAND

Local People Present at Funeral Services Held in That City

Last Friday

Judge and Mrs. Byron B. Park, Mr. and Mrs. Lamoreux and Miss Nellie Lamoreux attended the funeral of the late Frank B. Lamoreux at Ashland last Friday. Although a heavy rain fell there nearly all day, a large number of friends were present at the last sad rites.

Mr. Lamoreux's birthplace was on a farm in the town of Stockton and the date Oct. 12, 1855, making him nearly 67 years of age. The family moved to Plover when he was a small child and he grew to manhood there. For several terms he served as clerk of the circuit court for Portage county and shortly after his admission to the bar was elected district attorney. He handled several of the most important cases ever tried in central Wisconsin and was noted for exceptional legal ability.

Mrs. Lamoreux, the only surviving member of his immediate family, will continue to live at Ashland, which has been their home since February 1, 1904. Mrs. Lamoreux's mother, Mrs. John B. Eddy, now over 90 years of age, resides with her daughter.

HEN LAYS MAXMOTH EGG

But Twin Goslings are Biggest Attraction on Farm Near Marshfield

The George Hankel and Tony Brantner farm near Marshfield has a Rhode Island Red hen with a leaning to sizeable eggs. This hen's latest production is an egg measuring eight and one-half inches by six and five-eighths inches. Its owners challenge all comers to produce a larger Rhode Island Red egg and claim a world's record with this one.

The same farm also boasts of a rarity in the feathered world in the shape of twin geese. One egg of a setting turned out to be a twin yolk, and produced two husky goslings, now a week old and doing nicely. A Rhode Island Red hen acted as foster mother to this setting of goose eggs.

CELEBRATE CORPUS CHRISTI IN CHURCHES IN COUNTY

Catholic churches in Portage county, especially in Polish-speaking congregations, generally observed Corpus Christi, a feast in the church, with special services on Thursday. The feast of Corpus Christi is celebrated in the Catholic church to commemorate the doctrine of the real presence of Christ in the blessed sacrament, and to allow Catholics to declare publicly their belief in the doctrine. Processions about the churches in which the feast is observed form a big feature of the services. At St. Mary's church at Custer Rev. Fr. Dosolt of Wausau was celebrant at mass and preached the sermon at the services.

NEW SECRETARY WELL QUALIFIED TO SERVE HERE

Morgan Chase To Begin Chamber of Commerce Duties On July 1

In the selection of Morgan Chase, formerly of Marshfield, as the new secretary of the Stevens Point Chamber of Commerce, its board of directors believes that it has engaged the services of a man who is eminently qualified for the position. Although a young man, he has had much business experience and has made a specialty of the field of work which he will take up here on July 1.

Native of State

Born and raised in Wisconsin, Morgan Chase graduated from the Oshkosh High school in 1911, removing to Florida during the same year. Here Mr. Chase undertook orange packing house management and organization work in the employ of the Florida Citrus Exchange and Chase and Company, two of the state's marketing agencies.

He returned to Wisconsin nearly five years later, becoming the secretary of Marshfield Board of Commerce and later business manager for the Marshfield Clinic, Inc., which he had helped to organize. From Marshfield Mr. Chase entered the service, being stationed in Camp Grant and later in the machine gun officers' training school then maintained in Camp Hancock, Georgia.

Experience in Canada

Mr. Chase received his discharge late in 1918, going to Sarnia, Ontario, at the instance of the American City Bureau to assist in closing its Chamber of Commerce membership campaign. He remained as the Chamber secretary-manager until such time as a Canadian trained in the work might be secured.

His subsequent work was the organization of an automobile distributing business in the eastern part of Michigan centering in Port Huron. Since the fall of 1921 he has handled the Illinois territory for Felker Brothers Manufacturing company of Marshfield.

Besides Mrs. Chase there are three children, Eugene, Lois and Russell. Mr. and Mrs. Chase have been making their home in Marshfield.

Interest in Chambers

Mr. Chase has from the start been deeply interested in civic work. He realizes that a chamber of commerce must be a known center of first grade thought and judgment to maintain its standing in the community it serves, and that it cannot rest alone on thought and judgment, but that it must never become so steady that it is motionless.

In Marshfield he was largely interested in the liberty loan drives, serving as editor of the Daily Bond Chaser which was the first daily paper published; the organization of the Marshfield Clinic, Inc., and the promotion of the Central Delivery system. In Sarnia, Ontario, his work involved the establishment of Canadian branches of American factories, harbor improvements, organization of all city athletics under one management, which has proved to be an outstanding success, and financing of the city band.

Having kept abreast of his work in every possible way, Mr. Chase attends nearly every session of the mid-summer school of community leadership held by the American City Bureau.

NEW STOCKTON AGENT POTATO CONVENTION

FIRST TO COME HERE TO ENJOY NEW HOTEL

Frank S. Disher, for the past year employed as telegraph operator on the Soo line at Burlington, Kenosha county, has moved his family to this city and they are temporarily guests at the home of Mrs. Disher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Dudzik, 318 Union street.

Should this deal fail he may use part of the place for dwelling purposes and put a stock of groceries in the front room, with Mrs. Disher in charge.

Mr. Disher will continue to work for the Soo line, having been appointed station agent at Stockton and expects to begin his duties there next week. A relief man has looked after the company's business there for a month or more.

Raise 'em The FUL-O-PEP Way

The Ful-O-Pep Way of Feeding chicks has changed the old expensive "grain feeding" way and has proven to poultry raisers that the old method of grain feeding is all wrong. The Ful-O-Pep Way of feeding Gives You 1 Pound of Gain at Cost of 2 Pounds of Feed.

Instead of only 1 pound of gain to each 4 pounds of feed, which is the basis of figuring cost of production arrived at by experiment stations covering several years experiments with grain feeding. Why continue to feed this old expensive way when The Ful-O-Pep Way will give you the same gains with only half the feed?

FUL-O-PEP GROWING MASH

Costs Less Per Pound of Gain Made Than Any Other Feed

The Ful-O-Pep Way consists of feeding Ful-O-Pep Growing Mash from the very start—continuously keeping it before your birds all the time. Ful-O-Pep Growing Mash, because of the high feeding value of its Oats, fish and bone contents goes twice as far as grain feed—every ounce is digested by chicks' delicate digestive organs—there is no waste and when compared with results cost only half as much in pounds of feed consumed for gains in pounds of meat produced. Furthermore, your losses from bowel and digestive troubles that arise from feeding hard indigestible grains, will be very much less and your flock will be of even growth and development. Give The Ful-O-Pep Way a trial this season—it will reduce your feed costs and materially increase your profits.

ABOLISH SECRET CLAUSE AS LAW ON INCOME TAX

Ship Subsidy Opposed, Tariff
Indorped, Bonns
Favored

Madison, June 15.—The platform of the Progressive Republican party of Wisconsin, on which Governor John J. Blaine and the complete state ticket will run for nomination at the primaries next September, was announced here today. Reduction in taxes, repeal of the secrecy clause of the income tax system, defeat of the ship subsidy bill and the immediate construction of the St. Lawrence deep waterway, were the issues on which the candidates expressed their private opinions.

An amendment to the federal constitution to carry out the aims of the child labor bill declared unconstitutional last month, is demanded. "Adequate representation of women on an equality basis with men on legislative boards and commissions and other public offices," and the enforcement of the "Wisconsin equal rights law" are favored by the platform of the La Follette party.

"We affirm an unalterable opposition to universal military aims or any other militaristic systems, condemn the present excessive expenditures for military and naval purposes and favor control by the people of the war-making power, through an amendment providing for popular referendum, whenever congress in other than national emergency, shall vote to declare war," the declaration said.

La Follette and other Progressive members in congress are commended for their work. A bill of rights declares the Progressives will assail any action at violation of the constitutional rights of the people of Wisconsin, to be secure in their persons, houses, defense against unreasonable searches and seizures.

"No warrants shall be issued except upon cause supported by oath or affirmation, particularly describing the place to be searched and the things to be seized."

A comprehensive summary of the platform follows:

"To the men and women of Wisconsin: The undersigned progressive Republicans have announced themselves candidates in the Republican primary, September 5, 1932, for the following offices: John J. Blaine for governor; George F. Comings for lieutenant governor; Fred Zimmerman for secretary of state; Sol. Levitan for state treasurer; and Herman L. Ekera for attorney general.

"The voters of Wisconsin in 1920 elected a progressive governor, lieutenant governor, and secretary of state. The majority of the members of the legislature were not progressives. We now appeal to Wisconsin voters to nominate and elect a progressive state ticket and a progressive legislature. This will insure full cooperation in enacting and enforcing the Progressive measures pledged in our platform.

Taxation and Secrecy.
"We pledge reduction of state taxes by continued economy in state expenses and encouraging the greatest practicable economy in county, city, village, and town expenditures, and by abolition of tax dodging.

"We demand reduction of federal taxes by curtailment of the eight hundred million dollars now annually expended for the army and navy in preparation for future war, by recovery of the hundreds of millions stolen from the treasury by fraudulent war contracts, and by collection of the accumulated interest upon the eleven billion dollars owing to us by foreign governments.

"We favor equalization of federal and state taxes upon the principle that those who are best able to pay should bear the heaviest burdens. To that end we favor an excess profits tax, and adjustments of income tax rates, and we urge the immediate increase of federal inheritance tax rates upon great estates.

"We advocate the use of the revenue derived from the federal inheritance tax to pay off the national debt, making each generation meet its own obligations and insuring an equitable reduction of the tax upon small incomes.

"We favor complete publicity under proper safeguards of all federal and state tax returns, and the repeal of the secrecy clause which tends to corrupt the public service, shields gross frauds, and imposes undue burdens on honest taxpayers.

"We pledge a continuation of the policy of economy in state government which was hampered during the past two years by the activities of certain legislators who were not in sympathy with this program.

Agriculture and Industry
"We favor immediate repeal of the antiquated Esch-Cummins railroad law, and the enactment of legislation that will restore control by state railroad commissions of intrastate rates and promote reduction of freight, passenger and Pullman rates upon a basis of honest capitalization, efficient service and elimination of waste and graft through favors to interlocking equipment and repair companies and railroad contractors.

"We advocate the abolition of the practice whereby all purchases of steel in the state of Wisconsin are charged ed the Pittsburgh price, plus freight from Pittsburgh, without shipment of a pound of steel by freight or otherwise, which practice operates against the industries of Wisconsin and the west.

"We are opposed to the shameful waste and extravagance embodied in the ship subsidy bill, which proposes virtually to donate to private interests the government's ships, bought with the taxpayers' money, and then subsidize them upon terms which promote inefficiency and graft.

"We favor a deep waterway from the Great Lakes to the sea.

"We favor a reconstruction of the federal reserve and federal farm loan systems so as to eliminate control by speculators, and international financiers and make the credit of the nation available upon fair terms and without discrimination to business men, farmers and home builders.

"We favor legislation to end control by monopolists and special manipulators of the markets for grain, livestock, dairy products and other staple necessities.

Protective Tariff
"We declare our continued allegiance to the traditional Republican policy of a protective tariff, as specifically declared in the Republican national platform of 1908, to equalize the differences in cost of production at home and abroad, so that American producers and American labor may be protected without imposing exorbitant prices upon every American household.

"We favor abolition of the use of the injunction in labor disputes and declare for complete protection of the right of farmers and industrial workers to organize, bargain collectively, and conduct such cooperative enterprises as they choose.

Child Labor
"We favor an amendment to the federal constitution to meet the recent decision of the supreme court nullifying the child labor law and pending the adoption of such amendment we favor the enactment of such federal and state legislation as is permitted for the fullest protection of the health and educational opportunities for children.

Women in Government
"We favor adequate representation by women, on an equality with men, in the legislature, on boards and commissions, and in all public offices and employments, as a policy nearest in accordance with the principle of woman suffrage, of which the Progressives were the pioneer advocates in this state.

Foreign Languages
"The ability to use our common language and an understanding of our institutions and ideas are essential to securing equality of opportunity and to the well being of the individual and the state. We favor furnishing to the child and to the adult every practicable facility for education. We favor a legislative program for the improvement of our public school system giving equal opportunities to farm and city children. We favor liberal provision for teacher training, agricultural, vocational, continuation, and normal schools, university extension and the university, consistent with the support given to the common schools, in order that we may secure the highest, harmonious development in education for all our people. We favor the teaching of foreign languages in schools equipped for the purpose so that through a sympathetic knowledge on the part of our citizens of the language, literature and ideals of other people, this nation may take its rightful place in world commerce and in promoting world peace, understanding, and brotherhood.

Soldier Compensation
"We heartily endorse the consistent record of Progressive members of congress in favoring immediate adjusted compensation for veterans, and this as a matter of right and not as charity.

"Recalling the fact that profiteering during the war produced one American millionaire for every three American soldiers killed in France, we demand that money necessary to meet the obligation of the government to the ex-service men be raised by taxes laid upon wealth in proportion to ability to pay, and declare against a sales tax and other devices to shift such tax burdens to the backs of the poor, in higher prices and increased cost of living.

War and Militarism
"We appeal to the citizens, especially the wives and mothers of Wisconsin, to take definite political action looking to the outlawry of war.

"To this end, we favor control by the people of the war-making power through an amendment providing for a popular referendum whenever congress, in other than a national emergency, shall vote to declare war.

"We condemn the present excessive expenditures for military and naval purposes, amounting to more than twice the expenditures of any other nation before the late conflict, as being an encouragement to imperialism, grossly wasteful of the public funds, and provocative of war.

"We reaffirm our unalterable opposition to universal military training or any other militaristic system in either state or nation.

"We pledge our renewed allegiance to the traditional American policy of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln, of friendship and commerce with all nations, entangling alliances with none, and condemn departure therefrom.

Primary Elections
"We declare unwavering allegiance to the direct primary system, enacted into law by the Progressives of Wisconsin.

that believes in secret government is opposed to the primary law. Every corrupt politician, legislator who would eliminate the will of the people from politics is opposed to the primary law. Every large financial interest that would escape or shift its just tax is opposed to the primary law.

"We declare our belief that a repeal of the direct primary is planned by powerful political and financial influences at the next session of the legislature, and we recommend the nomination and election of candidates who are pledged to support and perfect the existing law.

"We are unalterably opposed to the insidious attempt of the special interests in Wisconsin to bring about a return to the boss-controlled convention.

"We favor the initiative, referendum and recall, so that the will of the people may at all times be effectively expressed.

Newberryism
"We denounce Newberryism, and demand the expulsion from the United States Senate of Truman H. Newberry, its most notorious beneficiary.

"We appeal to the voters of Wisconsin to express their abhorrence of the bold attempt of the same special interests that bought Newberry's seat in the senate to control the primary and election of the state by corrupt expenditure of immense funds in the present campaign.

"We protest against the policy of patronage coercion deliberately pursued by the present national administration, as being subversive of the independence of the people's legislative representatives, and destructive of the civil service.

Bill of Rights
"We hold it to be the sacred and inalienable right of every citizen in Wisconsin to freely speak or publish his or her sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that right, and we oppose the enactment of law to restrain or abridge the liberty of the press or of speech.

"The constitutional right of the people of Wisconsin to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated; and no warrants shall issue except upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, particularly describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized.

La Follette

"Robert M. La Follette pioneered the progressive movement in Wisconsin and the nation. In all his long public career he has never surrendered, compromised, or swayed from the path of duty. Thirty years ago he began the fight in Wisconsin to redeem that state from the domination of the railroads and other great corporations. For twelve years in private life and as governor he led the fiercest fight ever waged in any state to restore government to the people and to compel corporate wealth to submit to reasonable regulation and to bear its fair share of the burdens of government. When in 1905, he left the office of governor to become United States senator, he and his associates had made Wisconsin the best governed and most progressive state in the Union. During his career in the senate he has fought the same uncompromising fight in behalf of the rights of the common people that he waged so successfully in the state. As a result there has been arrayed against him the combinations of great wealth in the corporations, trusts, and monopolies whose lawless acts he has done so much to restrain and whose attempts to plunder the people he has so often thwarted. Senator La Follette, by sheer force of will, intellect, and moral power, has become the commanding figure in the United States senate and in the country. He relies on public opinion and the ballot as instruments of progress. The results of his constructive statesmanship are written in the statutes of our state, other states, and the nation. Each step has been a permanent advance.

"With the people of Wisconsin we propose to continue to go forward under his leadership along the lines which lead step by step to a larger and happier life for all the people."

START ON LONG TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Shaurette left here Wednesday afternoon on a trip of two months' duration which will take them through scenes which were familiar to them forty-five years ago, both before and after their marriage. They go from here to Montreal and then some sixty miles distant to the old home town of St. Sore for a visit with Mrs. Shaurette's three brothers and two sisters only one of whom she has seen in all these intervening years. Numerous nephews and nieces of Mr. Shaurette also live in that section of country and he and his wife expect to be kept busy until early fall. Mrs. Shaurette is 74 years of age and her husband recently observed his eightieth birthday anniversary. Both are in good health and will be able to enjoy this outing.

STOCK BRINGS GOOD PRICE

An out-of-the-state buyer recently purchased a carload of Holsteins in Wisconsin, among his purchases being three high grade animals owned by C. Van Asten of the Rudolph Wood County Cow Testing association, for which he paid $300. These cows brought Mr. Van Asten $100 above the total cost of feed and last year's testing. The buyer was anxious to get good stock, while the breeder received a substantial price.

MILL'S WASTE TO MAKE LANDS FAIRLY BLOOM

Results From Use of Sludge
From McDill May Make
County Rich

Use of the "sludge," the waste from the Strange mill at McDill, may be the opinion of agricultural authorities, make the country for miles around Stevens Point blossom like the rose. It may be the means of transforming into rich soil land which is now almost barren. If applied in quantity to a strip five miles wide around this city, it would, in the view of H. D. Boston, do more for the building up of the city worth while than the best factory the town could hope to procure.

On the land in the rear of the mill ever since its operation a pipe has been pouring out this sludge at the rate of 12 tons a day, until more than an acre of land has been covered to a depth of six feet. Some of it has washed into the Plover river, and composed largely of strong chemicals, has been said to have had a bad effect on the fish in the Plover.

McDonald's First
In the south E. G. Goodell, manager of the mill, had seen this sludge applied on land with good results. It was not used here until E. K. McDonald decided to try it out on his farm on the west side. Mr. McDonald spent into it on a large scale, spreading several hundred dollars in hauling the waste. Shortly after Carl Rusted began applying it on his lots at 401 Bush street.

Results at Rusted's
A day or two ago County Agent W. W. Clark, H. D. Boston and J. W. Dunagan, who as business men take a deep interest in agricultural development, Lon Meyers and a representative of the Journal visited the Rusted place. They found Mr. Rusted cutting the alfalfa on the lands treated with this waste. "I put on about 35 one-horse loads in the spring of last year, perhaps about five tons on a trifle less than an acre," he told the Journal. "I then planted it to oats and alfalfa. The oats came up a fine crop on land I could not grow anything on before. You see what the alfalfa is." He pointed to the fine, thick crop, stating that it had not been sowed in the best way. A little strip alongside, which was not treated with the sludge and which was previously better than the land treated, was planted with alfalfa at the same time, and it did not come up except in straggling shoots here and there.

As a result of his experiment Mr. Rusted is thoroughly convinced of the value of this material.

May Put in Dryer
The party did not visit McDonald's leaving that to a later trip. The results there are understood also to have been entirely satisfactory. It did go to the mill where the sludge is deposited. Manager Goodell said that he was sure the waste would benefit such lands as we have about here. "I saw it tried successfully at Orange, Texas," he said. No charge is being made by the company for this material. Later, should demand grow enough to justify it, a dryer may be put in and a small charge made. Under present conditions a farmer simply drives into the yard, loads up with wagon and takes the sludge away. It is about 50 per cent moisture and 50 per cent lime.

"It serves to sweeten the soil and make it possible to grow alfalfa and clover, which will enrich the soil," said County Agent Clark. "Farmers can haul it away in winter time at small cost to themselves and it will repay them in good crops on this land which has not been productive. Three or four tons of dry lime should be placed on an acre, and somewhat more than this while it is in its present moist condition. It would be preferred to commercial lime within five or six miles of the mill on account of being cheaper. Of course, as you get farther away, it may be equally profitable to use commercial lime."

Demonstration at Plover

On the Fred G. Halladay farm on the northern edge of Plover village there is given proof of lime's value which he who drives may read. A strip of land about one acre in size was treated with commercial lime, which has the same effect as the sludge from the mill, and it was then planted with alfalfa. Next to it to the south an acre was not treated and planted to the same crop. Next to the south is another acre, treated with lime and planted to clover. The two pieces treated with lime show wonderfully, while the intervening, non-treated strip shows practically nothing growing except on the eastern side where some of the lime was spilled by chance off the machine and alfalfa sprang up. "It may be admitted," said Mr. Clark, "that almost across the way Mr. John Wroblewski has had good results in growing clover without the use of lime, but he has treated his soil in other ways. The demonstration at Halladay's shows what lime will do to the thin soil of Portage county."

NONE BEING ERECTED

FOR GEORGE JAWORSKI
Another modern bungalow is now in course of erection on Union street, George Jaworski having started a new home in the 200 block with M. J. Mersch as builder. It will contain eight rooms over a full basement and equipped with heat, lights, water and many new devices.

SIGNS WARN TOURISTS

Deliver Told of Law Enforcement in Nearby Villages

"Beware of Speed Cop at Junction City. Beware of Speed Cop at Schofield. Strict Enforcement."

Signs bearing those warnings to auto drivers and tourists have been placed in front of the Auto Sales garage on Clark street. The signs have been put up to warn auto drivers to slow down in the villages of Junction City and Schofield so that they may escape the payment of fines for speeding. Strict enforcement of the laws regarding the speed of automobiles in these places has caused the arrest of many auto drivers this spring.

LESS SMALL GRAINS PLANTED THIS YEAR

Planting Interrupted by Rain and Made Difficult by Poor
Soil Conditions.

The acreage of small grains in Wisconsin is 100,000 acres less than last year and $5,000 below the 5-year average (1910-20), according to the June 1 report of Joseph A. Becker, of the Wisconsin Cooperative Crop Reporting service. Planting was interrupted frequently by rain and was made difficult by poor soil conditions. Fall grains total 451,000 acres as compared to 417,000 in 1922 and a 5-year average of 441,000 acres. Spring grains total 3,000,000 acres compared to 3,200,000 acres in grain as against 3,647,000 in 1921 and an average of 3,615,000 for the five years 1916 to 1920.

With the exception of winter wheat, grain crops are all in good condition. Warm weather in May has largely overcome the late planting made necessary by weather conditions in April. The total outturn based upon June 1 conditions is forecasted at 122,913,000 bushels as against 82,118,000 produced last year upon the assumption of average weather conditions until harvest. The final production will be more or less depending on whether weather is more favorable or less favorable than usual.

RETURNS FROM WEST

Henry Gross Arrives Here After Absence of Seven Months.

Henry Gross arrived here from California Wednesday afternoon after an absence of just seven months. Most of the winter was spent at San Diego, with occasional side trips to Los Angeles and down into Mexico. Mr. Gross has had frequent attacks of asthma during the cold season, but last winter kept free from this affliction and was able to enjoy every day of his stay in the sunny southwest.

The return journey was started three weeks ago. Mr. Gross taking the southern route through Arizona, Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, thence to St. Paul and Stevens Point. He rode only during the daylight hours and was therefore able to get a good view of the country he traversed. Harvesting of wheat and other grains is now on in Texas, while cutting will be started in Oklahoma and Kansas early next week. A big yield is promised.

Mr. Gross is so well pleased with California that he may go back again next fall.

Too Much Feeding.
"Talk about tender-hearted children," said Aunt Foss, reckoning reductively in her chair. "I never saw anybody to equal the Marshall boys. You couldn't ask either of them to fetch in a pail of water but he'd burst right out crying."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

GOOD CLOVER CROP IN PORTAGE COUNTY

Record Harvest Not Expected But Farmers are Encouraged With the Prospect

An excellent crop of clover for Portage county is forecast for this season. While a record crop is not looked for, the stand gives indication of a bigger harvest than for several years past.

Dry weather last summer cut down the stand to quite an extent, causing the crop to be somewhat scattered. Seeding which survived the hot weather, however, was unharmed last winter when weather conditions in this part of the state were most favorable. The southern part of the state was less fortunate, winter killing causing much damage. Spring seeding here, which will be cut for hay next year, is also doing well.

The grasshopper, which caused much crop destruction last season, has not put in its appearance in large numbers this summer, according to farmers of Portage county. While the season is not far enough advanced to insure a big clover crop, farmers are encouraged by present conditions and it is believed they will have to pay out but little money for hay next winter.

LITTLE DAMAGE DONE BY 17 YEAR LOCUST

Rare Insect Makes Appearance This Year—Seen in Southern Wisconsin

Madison, Wis., June 20.—This is in defense of the seventeen-year locust, the lowly insect which stays a grub buried in a twig for nearly two decades before enjoying its one brief summer of activity that concludes its life.

The "brood" of 17-year locusts that inhabits southern Wisconsin, northern Illinois and northeastern Iowa, is out this year and enjoying its maturity. This is the seventeenth year, and the insects will be found in many localities of this district, mostly near forests and on the edges of wooded tracts.

But the locust isn't dangerous to vegetation. It doesn't bother crops, contrary to current reports of denuded trees and plants this spring on the banks of the Rock river near Janesville, according to Prof. H. F. Wilson, Wisconsin state entomologist and authority on "bugs" and insectivora.

In fact, the 17-year locust isn't related closely to the ordinary "locust" which is really not a "locust" at all. The locust doesn't make any noise at all, while the "locust" is responsible for the buzzing noise ordinarily attributed to "locusts."

The only property damage from the activities of the locusts out this year is the possible breaking off of small branches of trees whose resistance to wind and storm is lessened by the planting of locust eggs in the smaller tree stems. This damage, however, does not come until two or three years after the eggs have been laid, and causes no important or serious loss to the trees, according to Wilson.

After seventeen years, spent encased as a grub in a twig, the locust this year attains full maturity, and carries out its propagation of another generation of locusts by planting eggs in the twigs. Seventeen years of un-maturing childhood prepares for three months of activity, most of which is devoted to reproduction.

The locust feeds very daintily on plant juices which it sucks from the stems of plants, Wilson said. Its feeding apparatus does not permit consumption of leaves or vegetables.

A strip of Wisconsin twenty or twenty-five miles north of the Illinois line will be the northern limit of the range of this year's locusts, Wilson said.

The annual county Guernsey picnic will be held at the farm of R. C. McDonald just west of the river at Stevens Point on June 27. Every good dairyman, no matter what breed of cattle he is keeping, will find much of interest in a visit to this farm.

Mr. McDonald has just completed one of the finest dairy barns in the state. He supplies milk to a select trade in Stevens Point and every detail is so planned as to be sanitary to the last degree. The ground floor is of concrete, well lighted and ventilated, plastered on metal lath and the walls painted.

Herd is Pure Breed

The herd is composed entirely of registered Guernseys headed by a show sire of wonderful breeding. Cora's Churn of Shorewood, owned in partnership with L. E. Gordon of Nel-onville. To guard against disease the cattle are regularly inspected for tuberculosis by federal or state veterinarians.

No Sale This Year

As the annual county Guernsey sale was held last month, there will be no sale at the picnic this year. An interesting program will begin at 1 p. m. and seats will be provided for the crowd on the lawn at the McDonald home.
